Notice on the Special Exhibition “Naval Architecture in Imperial University”

This month, the JP Tower Museum INTERMEDIATHEQUE (IMT) is opening the special exhibition “Naval Architecture in Imperial University.”

It has recently become clear that part of the early primary documents pertaining to naval architecture had been consigned to the Museum of Maritime Science (Tokyo) for a long period. Thanks to the courtesy of the museum, they were returned to the University of Tokyo.

The intent of the present exhibition is to reconsider the history of modern naval architecture by disclosing related documents.
